

APPENDIX B

Special Education Acronyms, Abbreviations and Terms

A

Accommodations. Changes in how test is administered that do not substantially alter what the test measures; includes changes in presentation format, response format, test setting or test timing. Appropriate accommodations are made to level the playing field, i.e., to provide equal opportunity to demonstrate knowledge.

Achievement test. Test that measures competency in a particular area of knowledge or skill; measures mastery or acquisition of skills.

Adversarial system. The system of trial practice in which each of the opposing parties has an opportunity to present and establish opposing contentions before the court.

Alternate assessment. Alternate assessments may be used to assess no more than 1 percent of students with the most severe cognitive impairments who are described as “students whose intellectual functioning and adaptive behavior are three or more standard deviations below the mean.”

Alternative dispute resolution. See mediation.

Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA). Legislation enacted to prohibit discrimination based on disability.

Appeal. Procedure in which a party seeks to reverse or modify a judgment or final order of a lower court or administrative agency, usually on grounds that lower court misinterpreted or misapplied the law, rather than on the grounds that it made an incorrect finding of fact.

Assessment. Systematic method of obtaining information from tests or other sources; procedures used to determine child’s eligibility, identify the child’s strengths and needs, and services child needs to meet these needs. See also evaluations.

Assistive technology device. An item, piece of equipment, or product used to maintain or improve the functional capabilities of a child with a disability.

Assistive technology service. A service that assists a child in selecting, acquiring or using an assistive technology device including evaluations of the child’s needs; includes selecting, fitting, customizing, adapting, maintaining, repairing, and replacing assistive technology devices.

Attention deficit disorder/attention deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADD/ADHD). Child with ADD or ADHD may be eligible for special education under other health impairment, specific learning disability, and/or emotional disturbance categories if ADD/ADHD condition adversely affects educational performance.

Audiology. Related service; includes identification, determination of hearing loss, and referral for habilitation of hearing.

Autism. Developmental disability that affects communication and social interaction, adversely affects educational performance, is generally evident before age 3. Children with autism often engage in and have unusual responses to sensory experiences.

B

Basic skills. Skills in subjects like reading, writing, spelling, and mathematics.

Behavior disorder (BD). See emotional disturbance.

Behavior intervention plan. A plan of positive behavioral interventions in the IEP of a child whose behaviors interfere with his/her learning or that of others.

Brief. Written argument that supports a case; usually contains a statement of facts and a discussion of law.

Bodily injury. See serious bodily injury.

Burden of proof. Duty of a party to substantiate its claim against the other party; in civil actions, the weight of this proof is usually described as a preponderance of the evidence.

Business day. Means Monday through Friday, except for federal and state holidays.

C

Calendar day. See day.

Case law. Decisions issued by a court.

Charter school. Independent public schools that operate under public supervision but outside traditional public school systems; are exempt from many state and local rules, do not charge tuition, have a performance contract that specifies how the school will measure student performance, and complies with federal civil rights and education laws.

Child find. Requirement that states ensure that all children with disabilities are identified, located and evaluated, and determine which children are receiving special education and related services.

Child with a disability. A child who has a disability and who “needs special education and related services.”

C.F.R. Code of Federal Regulations

Class action. A civil action filed in a court on behalf of a named plaintiff and on behalf of other individuals similarly situated.

Classroom-based instructional reading assessment. A reading assessment that relies on teacher observations.

Complaint. Legal document that outlines plaintiff’s claim against a defendant.

Comprehension. The ability to understand and gain meaning from reading.

Confidential file. File maintained by the school that contains evaluations conducted to determine whether child is handicapped, other information related to special education placement; parents have a right to inspect the file and have copies of any information contained in it.

Consent. Requirement that the parent be fully informed of all information that relates to any action that school wants to take about the child, that parent understands that consent is voluntary and may be revoked at any time. See also Procedural safeguards notice and prior written notice.

Controlled substance. Means a drug or other substance identified under schedules I, II, III, IV, or V of the Controlled Substances Act; does not include a substance that is legally possessed or used under the supervision of a licensed health care provider.

Core academic subjects. English, reading or language arts, mathematics, science, foreign languages, civics and government, economics, arts, history, and geography.

Deafness. IDEA disability category; impairment in processing information through hearing that adversely affects educational performance.

Department. The Department of Education.

Diagnostic reading assessment. A valid, reliable assessment based on scientifically based reading research that is used to identify a child's areas of strengths and weaknesses so the child learns to read by the end of third grade. A diagnostic reading assessment determines difficulties a child has in learning to read, the cause of these difficulties, and possible reading intervention strategies and related special needs.

Disability. In Section 504 and ADA, defined as impairment that substantially affects one or more major life activities; an individual who has a record of having such impairment, or is regarded as having such an impairment.

Discovery. Term for methods of obtaining evidence in advance of trial; includes interrogatories, depositions and inspection of documents.

Due process complaint notice. Notice filed to request a due process hearing; must include specific information including the child's name and address, name of the school the child attends, a description of the nature of the problem including facts relating to the problem, and a proposed resolution of the problem.

Due process hearing (impartial due process hearing). Procedure to resolve disputes between parents and schools; administrative hearing before an impartial hearing officer or administrative law judge.

Dyslexia. A specific learning disability (SLD) that is neurological in origin. It is characterized by difficulties with accurate and/or fluent word recognition and by poor spelling and decoding abilities. These difficulties typically result from a deficit in the phonological component of language that is often unexpected in relation to other cognitive abilities and the provision of effective classroom instruction. Dyslexia is listed as a "specific learning disability" in IDEA.

E

Early intervention (EI). Special education and related services provided to children until age 3 or, in some cases, until they enter kindergarten or elementary school.

Early intervening services. New program that allows at-risk children to receive additional academic and behavioral support, including scientifically-based reading instruction, without being identified as needing special education; should be used as short-term solutions, not replace special education services when a child needs them.

Education records. All records about students that are maintained by an educational agency or institution; includes instructional materials, teacher’s manuals, films, tapes, test materials and protocols.

Educational consultant/diagnostician. An individual who may be familiar with school curriculum and requirements at various grade levels: may or may not have a background in learning disabilities; may conduct educational evaluations.

Emotional disturbance (ED). Disability category under IDEA; includes depression, fears, schizophrenia; adversely affects educational performance.

EMR. Educable mentally retarded.

ESY. Extended school year services.

Essential components of reading instruction. Explicit and systematic instruction in phonemic awareness, phonics, vocabulary development, reading fluency, oral reading skills, and reading comprehension strategies.

Evaluation. Procedures used to determine whether a child has a disability and the nature and extent of the special education and related services that the child needs.

Exhibit. Anything tangible that is produced and admitted in evidence during a trial.

F
